

I think this is a wonderful and much overdue notion.

In my own case, by way of example, I am a great fan of baseball with absolutely no interest in any other programming available on commercial television. I can't rationalize bringing all the rest of that rubbish into my home, and so simply do without.